

BUILDING THE TEXAS ECONOMY ONE BUSINESS AT A TIME

▶ The national Small Business Development Center (SBDC) program was legislated via the Small Business Act of 1976 as a program of the U.S. Small Business Administration. Leveraged federal funding involves cooperative agreements with institutions of higher education. State Governments play a vital role as key partners to efficiently and effectively leverage resources which complement the State's economic development efforts.

SBDCs provide small business owners and aspiring entrepreneurs with no-cost professional business advising and at-cost training on topics such as developing a business plan, accessing capital, finding new customers, compliance with regulations, exporting, cybersecurity, technology commercialization, and more.

The Texas SBDC Network is comprised of four Lead Offices strategically located at:

- Texas Tech University
- University of Texas at San Antonio
- Dallas County Community College District
- University of Houston

Combined, they manage the 50+ field Centers in urban and rural Texas. SBDCs provide hands-on guidance, which leads to greater prosperity via job creation, increased capital access and other small business growth.

According to the 2018 findings of a national independent study by James J. Chrisman, PhD, "SBDC long-term consulting assistance is highly valuable from a public policy perspective because it returns tax revenues to state and federal governments, as well as value and capital to its clients that are greater than the direct cost of providing the service. For every $1.00 invested in Texas SBDCs, a return of $7.32 is generated."
